

Desperate Fighting Between German Right Flank And Allies Fighting Moving Movement of Allied Forces

WILLIAM SMITH TELLS WHY HIS OPINION HAS CHANGED AS TO GUILT OF LEO FRANK

In Exhaustive Statement, Former Lawyer for Negro Picks Many Alleged Flaws in Story Sweeper Told on Stand, and Gives Number of Instances in Which He Says He Departed From Truth—Never Believed Pervert Story, He Asserts.

TELLS OF TRAP LAID FOR CONLEY WHEN NEGRO WAS IN FULTON JAIL

Smith Now Allies Himself With Frank Defense and Confidently Expects Prisoner Will Secure Liberty—Believes Conley Guilty, But He Is Now Free From Further Penalty of the Law. Lanford Says He Is Open to Conviction.

Attorney William M. Smith, counsel for Jim Conley, whose statement in Saturday's Constitution that he believed Leo M. Frank innocent of the murder of Mary Phagan created the newest Frank case sensation, has issued a public statement in which he explains his change of opinion.

He attributes it to constant and exhaustive study of the case, in which he catalogued, card-indexed and filed for research purposes huge volumes of Frank evidence. In this he was aided by his wife, who had never fixed a definite belief in the famous case, and who was instrumental in influencing her husband to the changed attitude.

In his latest card, Mr. Smith declares that he had always felt a certain amount of suspicion toward his client, and that there were many mysterious angles of the negro's connection with the crime which are still unexplained to his personal satisfaction. He explains his delay in making public his opinion because of the short length of time that has elapsed since he severed all connection with Conley as legal counsel.

WILL FIGHT TO FREE FRANK.

He gives many interesting points of the case on which he bases his new conclusion. He states that it is his plan to fight for the liberation of the white man, but declares that there is no possible way by which Jim Conley can be dealt with for the murder, the negro having already been convicted and sentenced for implication.

Mr. Smith has prepared data and letters which he expects to send out to influential men and persons of letters throughout the country in an effort to unravel the mystery of the murder noted found by Mary Phagan's body. He has now allied himself with the Frank defense, and avers that it is only a question of time until the case will be cleared of the crime and will be given freedom. The results of investigations now in progress he says he will make public in proper time.

SMITH'S STATEMENT

Following is the attorney's statement:

"The unfortunate publicity given my personal opinions as to the Frank case is much to be regretted. My personal opinion is not evidence and legally should not have a feather's weight. It was never my purpose, unless absolutely necessary to save human life, to give public expression of my such suggestions as occurred to me it was my intention to privately offer, and that the public should be informed through official action of the public sessions of the law."

"In an effort to inspire further search I was compelled to speak in confidence to some in whom I had every right to believe. There has been no giving of names. There has been no suggestion through any misinterpretation of what I would say. I believe that there was a willful betrayal in order to accomplish a malicious purpose and a handicap to my wife and me. While willing to do my utmost to clear the name of Leo Frank, I am not willing to be a party to the perpetration of a crime from whom the public had a right to demand that the truth be known to the public who more willfully to believe in who have the power to learn the truth if they will only rise to the needs of the hour."

"This crime occurred April 24, 1913. James Conley, a negro employee, was arrested by City Detectives McCall and Coker after conference with Chief of Detectives Lanford. He was arrested May 1, 1913, being charged with the blood of this little girl. A charge of association was entered against him upon the police records. I thought scientific test was necessary, but found that the bloody shirt was returned to Conley without examination by the city bacteriologist, as was done with New York shirt. So far as can be known, this negro was washing his shirt in the blood of Mary Phagan."

W. L. VENABLE HURT BY CAR ON PEACHTREE

Aged Lawyer Knocked Down by Automobile Driven by Dr. Allen Buncie.

W. L. Venable, a lawyer, with offices in the Gould building and residing at 187 Spring street, was run down last night about 7 o'clock by an automobile driven by Dr. Allen M. Buncie and painfully injured. The accident occurred on Peachtree street, near Harris.

Frank Inman and W. C. Calloway rushed the injured man in an automobile to the Davis-Pipher antitumor, where his condition was pronounced not serious. Mr. Venable is about 60 years old.

Witnesses declared that Dr. Buncie's machine was going at a slow rate of speed, but that the rain on the glass windshield kept him from seeing Mr. Venable when he stepped from the sidewalk.

He was struck by the right fender of the car.

MAIL CARRIER INJURED.

R. C. Cox, of 28 Hayden street, a United States mail carrier, and his right leg broken last night at 12 o'clock when his delivery wagon was struck by an auto driven by L. S. Peak, of 707 Edgewood avenue, who works for the Consolidated Film and Supply company. The accident occurred at the corner of Marietta street and Jones avenue.

Peak carried Cox to the Grady hospital in his machine, following which he was taken to the police station on a charge of reckless driving. Peak declared that he was driving slow, but that his windshield was misty from the rain, and he could not see the carrier.

GERMAN SHIP DISABLED BY BRITISH AUXILIARY

Seattle, Wash., October 3.—The liner Taishan, in port from the Orient, brings further details of the disabling of the German auxiliary cruiser Prince Alice by the British auxiliary cruiser Empress of Russia, formerly a Canadian Pacific liner, off the Philippines early in September. The German vessel was bound foreking-Tai and was reported to carry 316,000,000 for opium.

The Empress carried four 6-inch guns and had a heavy armament and had her main mast cut off clean.

BELGIANS RETREAT BEFORE GERMANS

Forced to Fall Back Because of German Artillery Fire After a Desperate Resistance of Five Days.

London, October 3.—The Belgian legation issued the following official announcement tonight:

"On the east of the river Senne the defense of Antwerp has been forced to fall back to the river Nethe before the violent attack of the German artillery, after a desperate resistance of five days."

"The position on the Nethe is strong, and the Belgian army will resist with the full energy."

The Antwerp correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph, in a message dated Saturday night, says:

"No new attack has been made on the Belgian front tonight. The situation remained the same as indicated in the official communication given out Friday night."

BELGIANS FLEE TO WESTWARD.

Hilut, Holland, October 3.—[Via London].—Preparatory to the final stage of Antwerp, large detachments of German troops moved westward parallel with the Dutch frontier.

Several villages between Alost and Ghent have been deserted by the inhabitants. Driving their cattle before them and removing as much as possible of their furniture, the Flemish peasants are moving westward as fast as they can. Large numbers probably will be obliged to cross the frontier into Dutch territory. Those unable to do so are being driven into the Dutch refugee camps in the province of Geland.

Dutch government has thus far taken no steps to close Holland to the mouth of Scheldt.

Flushing, Holland, October 3.—Owing to increased activity on the part of the German army, followed by the arrival here of a steady stream of refugees, the British government has been declared to exist. Every preparation has been made to close the mouth of the Scheldt with the structure have been mined. Strong detachments of troops guard these structures.

TWO GERMAN ATTACKS REPORTED BY BELGIANS.

London, October 4.—[By a.m.]—The Antwerp correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company in a dispatch dated Saturday night, says:

"An official communication states that two German attacks have been repulsed with heavy loss."

German Attacks Fail And Allies Continue Their Flanking Game

Extreme Left of Allies Nearing Belgian Frontier—German Right Heavily Reinforced in Effort to Save Line of Communications—The Crown Prince's Army Takes the Offensive Against French Right, But Is Thrown Back. French Official Report States Progress Is Slow, But Continuous—Great Battle Is Raging Between Russians and Germans on Eastern Front—Russians Claim They Are Forcing Germans Out of Russian Poland.

London, October 3.—Roye, the little town on the main road from Amiens to Noyon, the heights around which have been alternately occupied by the French and the Germans during the past week, is still the center of a battle of great violence.

The Germans, who are fighting stubbornly to protect their flank at this point, have brought up reinforcements, but according to the French official communication today, all their attacks have been repulsed.

The action, however, is still proceeding and upon it much depends, for if the Germans are beaten, their line of communication at Tergnier will be seriously threatened.

Of other operations on this front, which extends as far north as Arras, nothing has been disclosed since the French themselves announced that their force debouching from Arras had fallen back slightly on the east and north of that town.

GERMANS PREPARE TO GUARD FLANK.

There is evidence from other sources that the Germans are making preparations to protect their flank, should retirement become necessary. They have evacuated West Flanders and their attack on Antwerp is believed by many to be designed to keep the Belgians busy and prevent them from operating on what would be General Von Kluck's left should he fall back through Belgium.

But the battle is not yet over, and it may be many days before either side attains its objective. According to the forces absolutely needed elsewhere, the Germans are maintaining their strength in France, and besides fighting off the French efforts on their

London, October 3.—A Petrograd dispatch by way of Rome to the Central News says:

"The Germans are evacuating Russian territory. Whole regiments have been drowned in the Niemen river and have lost their siege artillery. The emperor, it is declared, escaped with difficulty."

A Petrograd dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company says the Russian papers announce that Emperor William has been making speeches along the Russian frontier at Bromberg and Thorn on "The Inevitable Victory of German Culture."

GERMANS BEATEN, SAY THE RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, October 2.—Emperor Nicholas, it is announced, has left for the theater of war.

The following official announcement from the general staff has been issued:

"The battle at Augustow continued to develop with extreme ferocity on October 2. The enemy retained his positions north of Lake Viers, carrying out furious attacks on the side of Ratchki and Borgeinane in an effort to occupy western roads leading out of the Augustow forest."

The enemy's attempt to break the defensive tactics of the Russian cavalry. This engagement took place at dusk, but the enemy's squadrons were not to fight and completely dispersed, sustaining heavy losses. They carried

CAN BRAY'S TWIRLERS STOP MACKIAN ARTILLERY

Without the other. Sometimes good pitching makes good catching, or at least makes a rather look good. More often, though, good catching is the result of good pitching. It is made by the catcher's eyes.

Gowdy's Star.
Boston has a good catching staff. Without doing Whaling, the brilliant second catcher, in his first year, he has been called the "Kid" by the press. He is a hard man to beat when there is much at stake. He is generally considered to be one of the best pitchers in the world.

Bray's Twirlers.
The big question along this line is: Will the Boston pitchers be ready? Will the strain attendant upon pitching almost every third day during the season tell on them? They are by the time they face the pitcher.

in the big series. The offensive power, compared with the Athletics, appears a minus quantity.

Great Mack infield.
Having needed the Athletics' edge on the attack, the Philadelphia world series staff is not at all in a position to win the series. The team has a good deal of talent, but it is not enough to win the series.

Reader and Plank.
In the pitching line, Mack has Bender and Plank, seasoned veterans both in years of experience and in world's series work. Bender, especially, is a hard man to beat when there is much at stake. He is generally considered to be one of the best pitchers in the world.

A New Tire Day

400,000 Know It

400,000 men have proved out and adopted Goodyear tires. They find them a quality supreme and unvarying. They find safety and sturdiness, less trouble, more miles.

No rim-cuts. A way we control prevents them. Less blow-outs, because the "On-Air" cure—used by us alone—removes a major cause.

Less punctures—less wear—because our "On-Air" cure—used by us alone—removes a major cause.

The Winter Tire

For winter use get All-Weather tread. When you know them you will use them all the year around.

They are tough and double-thick. They are flat and regular so they run like plain tread. Their grips are sharp and realistic, and so deep that they last thousands of miles.

Other anti-skid cuts more than one-third more than these. But a glance will tell you that All-Weather tread excels them. And every test will prove it.

Goodyear tires have won more users than any other tire that's built. They won them by service, such as you desire. Give them—for your own sake—a chance to win you.

A skin you love to touch

Why it is so rare

A skin you love to touch is rarely found because so few people understand the skin and its needs.

Begin now to take your skin seriously.

You can make it what you would love to have by using the following treatment regularly.

Make this treatment a daily habit

Just before retiring, work up a warm water-lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it into the skin gently until the skin is softened, the pores opened and the face feels fresh and clean. Rinse in cooler water, then apply cold water—the colder the better—for a full minute. Whenever possible, rub your face for a few minutes with a piece of ice. Always dry the skin thoroughly.

Use this treatment persistently for ten days or two weeks and your skin will show a marked improvement. Use Woodbury's regularly thereafter, and before long your skin will take on that finer texture, that greater freshness and clearness of "a skin you love to touch."

Woodbury's Facial Soap is the work of a skin specialist. It costs 15c a cake. No one hesitates at the price after their first cake.

Do this today!—Now! Tear out the illustration of the cake below and put it in your purse as a reminder to get Woodbury's. Tear out the cake now. Take it to your druggist or tell counter today. Begin tonight to get the benefit of this facial soap. For sale by dealers everywhere.

HARVEST DAY, MONDAY, OCTOBER FIFTH

A Unique Display of Merchandise and the Fruits of the Land

Today is PEACE DAY by proclamation of the President of the United States. It is fitting and proper that we set aside tomorrow as HARVEST DAY, and the whole week for the continuance of a display unique in local storekeeping.

The direct significance of PEACE DAY is one of prayerful interest in the warring nations of Europe.

But it has another meaning, and we propose to turn our store into a picture-allegory of it.

America stands big and alone, in amity with the world, and while nature smiles our fields are ripening, our men are left at home these HARVEST DAYS to reap the fruits of the seed of industry that the fecund earth gives back abundantly.

The Scene the Store Will Present Tomorrow Morning and All the Week Typifies the Richness of the Land, the Richness and Variety of Our Stocks of Seasonable Merchandise

We are anxious for you to see the store as it will be tomorrow. It is a harmonious background, a fitting setting for the merchandise we have gathered. Nothing but a sympathetic and active response to the needs of the community could have effected the assemblage.

It was hard, very, very hard at times, to get merchandise that measured up to the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. standard. But our methods of storekeeping see no merit in giving blanket orders for vast quantities. Mere volume is not a virtue.

Interest was centered in choosing the rare, the beautiful, the new things that make their appeal to individual good taste. We searched until we found them.

So the store is filled with SELECTED merchandise, the kind we are proud to own, proud to place before a discriminating and knowing Atlanta public.

These are the Harvest Days.

We present the fruits of our labors. Some are rare exotics; some are sturdy staples; all are worthy.

Garner as you will, WHERE you will, the store is in tempting and ripened fullness; but—

Among the Notable Successes We Have Scored This Season Must Be Recorded the Assembling of Such Smart Suits and Dresses, Exclusive Millinery and Artistic Shoes

The Suits and Dresses

The scope and variety of the styles, their individual charm, must impress all who spend a half an hour in the Ready-to-Wear Section. They were chosen with the discriminating taste that distinguishes between the true and the pretentious. Hundreds of suits and hundreds of dresses are different in hundreds of ways, but all expressing right, approved fashions.

Yours is the pleasant task of choosing from the many the one you like best.

The Shoes

A new store. New in every sense of the word, the only one of its kind in the world. And the shoes—made especially for us, completely to meet the requirements of a city of discriminating women.

Turkey Dinner in the Tea Room

The Tea Room has prepared to serve a special Harvest Day Dinner.

The Millinery

The Millinery Section is in a unique position to serve better than ever this season. Our Paris models and Paris trimmings were selected just in time to warrant their safe arrival in America. So the little shop of Estelle Mershon, 20 E. 46th St., New York, and our own workrooms have had every advantage in evolving exquisite copies of and adaptations from these models.

You shall see how well they have succeeded.

The FORMAL GOWN

THE formal gown is a thing of moment to most women, since it must serve, as a general rule, for quite a variety of occasions, such as restaurant dinners, theaters, receptions, teas and musicales, and in many places where the audience is chiefly feminine and "critical."

Katherine McCarron

I have three charming gowns of this type in today's sketch. The one on the seated figure is of heliotrope taffeta. It has three accordion-pleated flounces on the skirt and a smart little buttoned bodice worn over a glimpse of white chiffon. The covert toque is entirely of white coque feathers. The transparent gown, favored by Dame Fashion, is shown in the center. A skirt of rose-colored satin outlines the figure closely to the knees, where it flares suddenly. This is relieved by a narrow full tunic of mauve maline weighted at the bottom with a band of gold embroidery. The excuse for a bodice and the long shadow sleeves are formed solely of the maline. A wide girle of rose satin swathe the figure at low waist-line. This frock is topped by an unusually chic hat of black velvet.

The last gown of the trio is in the "ever ancient, ever new, always charming black and white." The soft, full-gathered, long-sleeved blouse is of black crepe chiffon. Over a finely pleated ankle-length skirt of the chiffon is draped a triple tunic of white lace. The whole enriched by a deeply swathed girle of black velvet, tied in great loops at one side, low toward the back. A bunch of moss rosebuds lends the color note.

To hear them tell it you'd think that every Tailor and Haberdasher in Atlanta had a double half-hitch on fabrics and styles for Fall Fourteen. In my search for nobby fabrics I have not devastated Europe nor have I put New York Tailors out of business. But I did get my share of the good things in Cloth, Leather, Silk and things before the supply was shut off from the other side. That's honest. Needless to say, the object of this little announcement is to induce your desire for some of the things I have to sell—Haberdashery, Hats, Footwear, Tailored Clothes, that are a constant joy. Glad to have you for one of my customers.

"FURNISHER TO MEN"

SIX PEACHTREE STREET

THE STORY OF "TODAY"

One of the chief problems of every-day life in the cities and in many small communities is how to induce women to dress according to their incomes. In the case of misguided Lily Wagner, in the powerful drama, "Today," her husband killed her to cure her of the craze that had soiled her life, but seeing "Today" and thinking about it will suggest a less dramatic cure. The sight of a handsome gown mounted to the brain of Lily Wagner, and befuddled it as the fumes of wine befuddled the drunkard. Beginning as a pretty girl with an average interest in dainty apparel, the liking grew into an obsession. It became a monster that destroyed her. The cure? Yes, "Today" is a constructive play and offers a remedy. Lily is shown as idle, as allowing her mother-in-law—a patient, lovable mother-in-law, by the way—to do all the work of their little household, while she sits "thinking of heaven knows what." There is the remedy. Lily might have learned to shop intelligently and to make her own clothes, or most of them. So she might have filled her closets with frocks that were pretty and suitable, and by such simple means the awful tragedy of her life would have been averted. "Today" is a moral play. That play is a moral one which shows the sterner suffering the penalty of his sin. Lily Wagner died for her love of clothes.

New York, October 3.—(Special).—A great unseemly struggle is going on in the financial district between those who are in favor of the speedy reopening of the financial and security markets and those who oppose such a step for the present time. To each faction the several sides of the other side is intolerable. Those who are in favor of resuming open trading in securities point to the steadily increasing volume of private trading. The market for all sorts of securities in the streets has been slowly increasing but prices have been steadily receding. ROCKEFELLER IS CALLED TO ACCOUNT

Opinion That Dummy Directors Resigned to Escape Grand Jury Investigation of Directors' Methods.

New York, October 3.—(Special).—From the viewpoint of the investigating public too much importance cannot be placed upon this week's news that William Rockefeller, George F. Baker, Charles F. Brooks and James S. Eiton had resigned as directors of the New Haven railroad. Ill health and other conventional reasons were given to explain these resignations. Everybody on the eye of the federal grand jury investigation into the methods used by the directors of that company in acquiring control, ownership and water rights in the future mine Rockefeller and his associates are not going to serve as dummy directors.

Baker did not go on the New Haven board until long after the resignation of Rockefeller. He had practically completed his expansion of the New Haven system. He had resigned this week, however, he was not going to leave the New Haven system. He was not going to leave the New Haven system. He was not going to leave the New Haven system. He was not going to leave the New Haven system. He was not going to leave the New Haven system.

The resignation of Rockefeller, Baker and Eiton will escape liability. Because the action of the New Haven directors has been criticized, it is not seen to be the opinion of the Interstate commerce commission, which is investigating the entire Rockefeller system.

Comment of the Commission. In last July, the commission said that any expenditures were made in violation of the anti-trust laws of the United States, are not such expenditures as the law intended to prevent. It is the opinion of the commission that the directors of the New Haven are not going to serve as dummy directors.

The resignation of Rockefeller, Baker and Eiton will escape liability. Because the action of the New Haven directors has been criticized, it is not seen to be the opinion of the Interstate commerce commission, which is investigating the entire Rockefeller system.

STATE CAMPAIGN FOR PROGRESSIVES

McClure and Hutchens Nominated for the United States Senate at the Macon Meeting.

Macon, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—The advisory committee of the progressive party, at a meeting here today, attended by about thirty members of the party, twelve of them being members of the advisory committee representing each congressional district in the state, nominated C. W. McClure, of Atlanta, for the long term senatorship to oppose Senator Hoke Smith, the democratic nominee, and Hon. Rufe G. Hutchens, of Rome, for the short term senatorship to oppose Thomas W. Hardwick.

The feature of the meeting was the entry of Mr. Hutchens into the progressive party, he being one of the defeated candidates for the short term nomination at the hands of the democratic party. During the meeting Messrs. McClure and Hutchens were constantly referred to as "our next senators" and plans were discussed for an aggressive campaign throughout the state. James L. Sibley, of Milledgeville, will be campaign manager for both the progressive senatorial candidates and he will take his charges for an automobile tour of the state.

The progressive platform adopted at the meeting today accords with the views of southern people as to social relations between the black and white races and declares for the preservation of white supremacy; favors the holding of a common primary for all parties on the same day, under the supervision of and at the expense of the state; favors free school books furnished by the state; condemns the present democratic administration for its failure to provide an efficient system of rural credit separate and distinct from the national and regional bank systems; favors the submission of a constitutional amendment on the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and endorses a measure which will give the farmers reasonable advances at moderate rates of interest.

The platform was framed by a committee composed of James L. Sibley, chairman; Atlanta, W. M. Keith, Senola; H. G. Hastings, Atlanta; D. C. Newton, Clayton, and H. S. Edwards, Macon.

Hutchens Accepts Nomination.
In accepting the nomination today, signalling his bolt from the democratic party, Rufe Hutchens, among other things, said:

"The time has arrived and events have transpired which not only justify, but absolutely demand, a change in political affairs in Georgia and the whole country as well."

"The present democratic administration has been managed by President Wilson and it looks like a flimflam game from start to finish, the regional banks being the worst flimflam of all."

"The Baltimore platform committed the democratic party to the establishment of a system of rural credits for the benefit of the farmers of the country. This they have entirely ignored. Mr. Wilson's Congress and Senate have been in session since his inauguration almost, and nothing but policies he favored have been adopted, and flimflam has been done but what has hurt the business of the country."

"Every man in Georgia knows that the thing that has kept the south wholly democratic is the negro question. But what do we find now? We find secret contacts entered into between the president and the democratic administration and the negro officeholders. And we even see President Wilson, born in Virginia, with a ten years' residence in Georgia to his credit, claiming to have southern instincts, appointing a negro to be judge of the court of Washington city, and this has been indorsed by Hoke Smith and Hardwick and their friends. The administration as a whole was indorsed by them, therefore they indorsed this negro question."

Everybody Loves A Lady Fair

And a Lady Can Have a Fair, Clear
Complexion by Using Stuart's Calcium Waters After Each Meal.

You women ought to hear some men rave over a beautifully clean and shapely face. There is nothing that charms a man more than a face that is free from pimples, blotches, liver spots, etc., the blood is clean and filled with impurities. gro judge. I will not indorse such political party.

Attacks Senator Smith.
"We have no democratic party in Georgia. The political standard, now is: Do you belong to the Hoke Smith party? If you belong to him he is willing to label you a democrat. If you do not belong to him you are labeled almost anything. It means political ostracism by the democratic administration, so far as Georgia is concerned, if you do not bow down to this demagogue and worship at his shrine."
The recent Macon convention was so abominable that it is unnecessary to mention it. The fraud perpetrated was so rank that it made above every other fraud perpetrated in this state and binds no one. Neither myself nor any other man who has sense or conscience and honesty in his make-up, or who has any self-purpose or personality, would be led by such a demagogue to an end of an action protested against by him at the time, but carried by wild disorder and threatened mob violence. This happened in Macon. I defied them to the last. Now, backed by thousands of fair-minded men in the state of Georgia, I file my protest and stamp it with my judgment as a stain."
The protest was today was presented over by R. A. Dure, chairman of the progressive party in Georgia.

WANT WORK RUSHED ON SOUTH PRYOR ST.

Second Ward Delegation Urge County Commissioners to Act.

Members of the second ward delegation in the general council are preparing to ask the board of county commissioners to hasten the work of widening and repaving South Pryor street, according to Councilman J. H. McCord. The county board will hold an important meeting next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, the purpose being to hear from a number of committees and delegations interested in special street improvement work. The second ward delegation—Councilmen J. H. McCord and C. D. Knight and Aldermen C. H. Kelley—will put forth the claims of the South Pryor street property owners and will ask the commissioners, in view of the fact that council's finance committee left the Pryor street fund intact, to complete the work as soon as possible.

According to Councilman McCord, work has already progressed to a great extent. From Georgia avenue out to the railroad the street has been widened and otherwise torn up so that it is almost impossible. Citizens were the work completed in that section before January, if possible.

FARMER HAD NOT BEEN TO TOWN IN 15 YEARS

Cade, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—Though having lived within six miles of Cordele all the time, A. T. Wright, a well-to-do farmer, has not been in the city for fifteen years, until yesterday when he left his farm to see what the world about him looked like.

Mr. Wright is 64 years of age, and being somewhat of an eccentric nature, together with a deep fondness for home and family, the city life or what was going on outside of his own little realm has during the fifteen years held no charms for him. He has been busy with his own affairs, the cotton crop and other farm products and purchased the supplies needed on the farm.

NO HARD TIMES FOR THIS SPALDING FARMER

Griffin, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—J. B. Hunter, a farmer of Spalding county three miles from here, has realized $507.48 in cash on two and a half acres of ground devoted to diversified crops.

The ground was planted in the early spring to string beans. On that crop the sum of $14.42 in cash was realized. Following the beans a crop of corn was planted and the corn was sold at 20c per bushel, which according to the price will be worth a sum sufficient to make the total products of the field this year worth $167.

So the corn is removed, Mr. Hunter will set out a crop of cabbage and will be in the ground in the spring. Cabbage in this county often makes more than $100 an acre. So it may be estimated the profit to be derived from this field in a few months' time.

Mr. Hunter and his boys have done all the work on the place, without the expenditure of a cent for expense.

A few years ago Mr. Hunter bought 45 acres of land at 45c per acre. Today it does not owe a cent, and says he has paid for it all from the products of the place in trucking.

VII—My Mission and Betrayal in England

By ARNOLD KARL GRAVES.
For Nine Years the German Emperor's Most Trusted Personal Spy, and Warmer by The London Times, "The Most Dangerous Spy of the Century."

NOVEMBER 18, 1911, I received the usual summons to report at the Wilhelmstrasse. Instead of the usual brought before Count von Wedel, I was taken over to Koenigsplatzstrasse 75, to the German navy intelligence department. Here I met my old chief, Captain Tappien, and of the naval branch of the intelligence department. The captain briefly informed me that it had been deemed advisable to send me to England—unbeknownst to me, as you will see.

In the usual court yet polite manner of German officers, the captain explained to me three naval experts. One was a construction officer, another an engineering officer, and a third an expert on explosives and mines. One of them they took me to the shipyard, and I was in the intricacies of their respective fields. It was like a rehearsal in the morning and evening, and I was taken into the service and trained for months. I saw for hours over diagrams with a naval officer on each side. They brought me the dimensions and the wall of the room. These charts gave the dimensions and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

Astrated. The situation between England and Germany was a war scare to such pitch that the people of the two nations were ready to rush into conflict. Only a spark was needed to fire the situation. Hence my mission.

I was included in my instructions to watch the movements of the German fleet in the North Sea and to report promptly to the German admiralty. This was a study of the English charts would be of great value to me in the morning I would not be able to distinguish the British fleet from the German fleet. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

When I had memorized all the charts, I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

Moreover, I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

A Distasteful Mission. At the intelligence department I was given carte blanche to go about my mission. I am frank to say I did not feel good reason to be wary. The suspicious state of England at that time was just passed, and this mission very dangerous as far as one's reputation was concerned. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

It does not need a lawyer to point out the tremendous power of protection that this mission afforded me. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

However, I must admit that great inducements were brought to bear on me. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

I remember now, I believe the tailor was there. One of the servants let him in.

I made it my business to go around by the tailor's within an hour, and he contradicted her story. He had not been at the Wilhelmstrasse. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

I recognized it as an occasion where I had to make a right royal bluff. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

"Have you any reason to believe that I am a German spy?" he asked. "I don't know anything about it," I replied. "I am following your orders, then," I said. "Certainly not," he replied. "I am following your orders, then," I said. "Certainly not," he replied.

A Physicist Seeks Learning. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

About a Week After my arrival with Countess Rosa I received information from the German admiralty. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

Not being in a position to raise a question, I went to the admiralty. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

From the waterguard I obtained more information. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

A Trip to England. The schooling I had received in the Wilhelmstrasse was of great value. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

On the evening of April 1 I had just put on my evening clothes and was sitting at the table. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

"There's a gentleman downstairs to see you," I was told. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

He then ordered his men to search for my coat. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

He then ordered his men to search for my coat. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

A Few Words About Dr. Graves

Dr. Arnold Karl Graves, who makes these startling revelations of the great German spy system, and of European diplomacy, was for nine years the most trusted and most trusted one, as a German spy, as a German spy, as a German spy.

He was arrested in Glasgow, tried on a charge of espionage at Edinburgh in June, 1911, and sentenced to eighteen months in the Brixton prison. He was, however, released by the government in September of the same year—and that that happened is not the least interesting of his revelations. It was in connection with his uncovering in Brixton that the name referred to Dr. Graves as "the most dangerous spy of the century."

What the Letter Really Meant. While reading Sir Arnold's book, the first thing that struck me was the fact that he was a German spy. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room. I was to study the charts and the wall of the room.

He was arrested in Glasgow, tried on a charge of espionage at Edinburgh in June, 1911, and sentenced to eighteen months in the Brixton prison. He was, however, released by the government in September of the same year—and that that happened is not the least interesting of his revelations.

Gowns to Grace the Social Season

BEAUTIFUL fabrics, beautifully made in styles that set a new standard for loveliness. Soft chiffons and laces delightfully drape with silks and satins. A silk sash here, a sparkle of gold there, a ribbon rosette at waist, a flower at shoulder—subtle beauties that defy description.

The dancing frocks are airy, fairy creations, ranging from sweetly simple chiffons and tulle to fabrics agleam with the sparkle of gold and silver laces. Prices range from $23.50 to $50.00.

The evening gowns and afternoon dresses are of rich silks and satins, draped with nets and laces, in combinations of loveliness well-nigh irresistible. No two are alike; many are exact reproductions of foreign models. $25 to $107.50.

IN the woof and warp of this linen is woven the integrity of its Irish maker. He hates shoddy as St. Patrick did snakes; he won't have a bit of cotton about his plant. "I make linens, sir, real linens, and nothing else."

—We know this linen; we've sold it for years; guaranteed it to wash and wear to our customers' satisfaction. We don't average a complaint to a thousand yards.

—Rich's Irish damask is firm and flaxful; it is true and time tested; it will wear like leather. It is made in ten different designs—every one a handsome pattern.

—All Rich's Irish damask by the yard is 72 inches wide. The cream is 80c and $1; the full bleached is $1.25. If you prefer your damask in bordered cloths you can get the same designs in any size at the same price, viz.:

Annual Oriental Rug Sale

Camel Load After Camel Load at These Savings:

$25 Rugs $15 $35 Rugs $17.50 $50 Rugs $30

THE Annual October Rug Sale starts out on a bigger, broader scale than ever. Unusual conditions have helped. Go back to 1913. Pending tariff changes caused American importers to stop buying. Coupled to this was the trouble in the Balkan states. As a result, Rugs piled up in Constantinople. The tariff settled, rugs began coming into America January, 1914. They came by bales and bales—hundreds and hundreds of bales. Our buyer went to New York in early July, made his selections from overloaded importers, all strongly competitive. Not only do we own our rugs under the normal market price, therefore, but for this October sale we forego much of our usual profit. There in a nutshell are the reasons for these low prices. Though we have $25 rugs for $15, and $35 rugs for $17.50, we feature for the opening days various small lots of rugs. These examples:

Fashion Decrees The Redingote

A tailored one in satin that may be worn with good effect over either a lace cloth or lingerie skirt.

AND that her decrees in this as in most other instances, are promptly obeyed by the American woman, is apparent on all sides. For it is already well launched—this vogue of the redingote—and because it lends itself to an infinite variety of adaptation, is likely to stay with us for some time.

The redingote on the figure illustrated is in a new brown, neither orange nor red, but something in between. Its long severe semi-fitted lines are somewhat relieved by the application of pleated side tunics. It may be worn with or without the wide Roman-stripe sash.

A straight coat with crossed surplice fronts worn over a striped silk underdress.

Front and back views of a redingote in blue taffeta, with a basque top and long, circular skirt.
